

WILL CIRCLE GLOBE ON HER HONEYMOON

Daughter of Mexican President To Wed on November 4.

Mexico City, October 30.—(AP)—President Calles' daughter, Alicia, considered one of the most beautiful girls in Mexico, will take a wedding trip around the world after she is married here November 4 to Jorge Almada, son of a prominent family of sugar planters of the State of Sinaloa.

Alicia Calles is 18 and her fiance 22. Both have studied and traveled in the United States, and Alicia speaks English as readily as Spanish, as does another of the president's daughters, Ernestina, who married an American, Thomas Arnold Robinson, a resident of Mexico City.

The wedding will be performed by civil ceremony at the private residence of President Calles, where he has recently moved, and will continue to live after he retires from the presidency. Only members of the families and a few close friends will be present. The couple will leave at once for San Francisco to sail for Honolulu, Japan and China. From there they will go to Europe and then to New York. Upon returning to Mexico they will live at the Almada hacienda in Sinaloa.

RAGSDALE URGES VOTERS TO SUPPORT ZONE AMENDMENT

JEER HOOVER PROMISE OF SPECIAL SESSION

Illinois Crowd Applauds Robinson in Speech at Decatur.

In a formal statement Tuesday Mayor L. N. Ragdale called on all voters of the city to approve the constitutional amendment allowing cities to enact zoning laws, in the general election of November 6.

His complete statement follows:

"The voters of Atlanta and all

Georgia:

"On the sixth of November you will be called upon to cast your vote for or against an amendment allowing all cities of 250,000 or greater population to put into effect a zoning law, if that is what you desire."

"I believe this to be one of the most useful and progressive movements that our people ever had the opportunity to vote upon. It is to be regretted that we could not have had this law in effect in Atlanta at this time."

"I desire to appeal to every civic and other organization in our city to bring this to the attention of every member and ask them to vote and work for this amendment."

I. N. RAGSDALE."

CHICAGO KILLER SHOOTS HIS MAN, POLICE ARREST HIM.

Chicago, October 30.—(AP)—Several hundred spectators at a marathon roller skating contest this morning saw William Marzano, 23, shot to death in a quarrel and were heralded into a fleet of patrol wagons as witnesses after the police captured the fugitive slayer.

Marzano had been at liberty under bond on a charge of wounding Al Brown, a friend of R. M. Fishman. Marzano was seated in a chair when Fishman approached him.

"You shot my pal," they said he shouted. "Your life belongs to me." Then Fishman witnesses said fired two bullets into Marzano's head.

Fishman fled, but was cornered a short distance away.

GALLOGLY, HARSH CASE DISCUSSED BY DARROW.

New York, October 30.—(AP)—Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney, told yesterday that the two Atlanta students indicted for murder, Harsh and Richard Gallogly, Atlanta college students indicted for murder, presented some of the same psychological and sociological problems that marked the case of Leopold and Loeb, whom he defended during their murder trial in Chicago.

A parallel exists in the fact that in both cases the alleged slayers were sons of wealthy families, with plenty of money available for their own devices, Mr. Darrow said. In addition he pointed out that in both cases the principals were college students of high intellectual type concerned with difficult problems of social and metaphysical subjects and searchers after knowledge beyond their years.

The defender of Loeb and Leopold charged that he had not been approached to defend the Atlanta youths, and did not think he would break his retirement, but added "I never could say that all that which was thought necessary to get convictions on the murder charges was disposed of at the special session Monday afternoon and the indictment staff decided not to seek indictment or sentence on charges of robbery growing out of the even holdings to which Harsh confessed and implicated Gallogly.

"We have the murder indictments and the others are just a passing matter now," Mr. Stephen said. "We have taken a number of persons away from their business long enough for one time, and we will need them all again for the trial. We can get to robbery indictments any time, and I do not feel like they are so essential now that we have far more serious charges pending against the two boys."

Dr. Riley Treated Harsh.

In winding up his end of the case Tuesday, Dr. Julian Poole admitted that it was Dr. Julian Poole, who maintains offices with Dr. Leroy Childs, who treated Harsh the night he was wounded by Smith. Dr. Poole said Dr. Riley had made a complete statement to him regarding Harsh's wound and willingly had gone before the grand jury and given testimony.

"Dr. Riley did not know at the time he was aiding Harsh that he was treating a murderer," Dr. Poole said.

"Of that I am convinced. Harsh and the others told him that he had been wounded while scuffling for a gun in the room and like as not Dr. Riley believed the story. Personally, I think it would have been hard to convince anyone that night, even myself, that Harsh was the man shot by Smith."

Chief Poole explained that the physician reluctantly admitted treating Harsh and appeared genuinely surprised when told that Harsh was wanted for the slaying of Smith and Meeks.

Physician Cooperates.

The doctor has cooperated with and Dr. Riley in every way,"

Chief Poole said. "I give due credit to the services he already has given us and the services I know he will give when he appears at the trial as a state's witness."

Solicitor General John A. Boykin, who returned early Tuesday from Brunswick, where he had gone on a fishing trip a few days before the case "dropped," took personal charge of directing the state's case.

"The police and members of my staff have done wonderful work on the Harsh-Gallogly case," Mr. Boykin said. "We have all the evidence needed to go before any jury in the land and get a quick conviction."

Nothing Neglected.

Mr. Boykin said that although he had not gone into the case thoroughly he was satisfied that no stone had been left unturned by detectives and members of the solicitor's office.

The solicitor said he had no comment to make on the way the assistants and detectives had handled the case other than to say "it certainly looks like an excellent job."

Regarding the eight finance corporation agent, William Marzano, son of a prominent Atlanta tailor,

and T. Morgan Sutton, son of a physician, who were with young Harsh and Gallogly immediately after the former was shot by Smith, the solicitor refused to comment. He had read all statements made by the three men, who admitted they were with the two prisoners and assisting in obtaining the services of the physician. All appeared before the grand jury at its special session Monday.

Harsh and Gallogly appeared pleased with their new surroundings.

OUR POLICY AS TO ECONOMY

It is our purpose to present to our patrons at all times merchandise marked at the very lowest prices consistent with the quality offered and with the principles of good business.

The combined buying power of fifty-six stores will allow us to effect material savings in many of our purchases. It will be our pleasure to pass these savings on to our good friends and customers who make our organization possible.

The same sales force which has formerly served you is behind our counters. They know your needs and will take pleasure in assisting you whenever possible, thereby often enabling you to save considerable amounts through their help.

We shall strive to make our offerings of such nature that thousands of dollars will be saved each year by our patrons.

A PLEDGE from the President To the Citizens of Atlanta:-

To so conduct each Lane Drug Store that it will be an institution that the residents of Atlanta will point to with pride.

To commit myself and this organization to take an active interest in all civic matters of this - my home city.

R. D. Lane
PRESIDENT
Lane Drug Stores, Inc.

OUR POLICY AS TO QUALITY

In no line of business is quality more necessary than in the drug store.

Recognizing the responsibility placed upon us, we shall exercise the greatest care to protect the interest of our patrons.

Our corps of buyers—men of character and experience—will exert themselves to the utmost to see that nothing but the purest and best merchandise comes into our stores through reputable channels. In the prescription which you have filled in a Lane Drug Store, you are assured, not only that each item is just what your physician has prescribed, and is manufactured by the very highest grade factories but you will also know that the compounding is done by an EXPERIENCED, registered pharmacist, assuring you of exact results. This policy is dominant in every department—the best is none too good for OUR patrons.

JUDGE JOHN CANDLER IS HONORED BY CLASS

Druid Hills Methodist Pays Tribute to Lecturer for 14 Years.

Tribute to Judge John S. Candler, prominent jurist and churchman, for completion of his fourteenth year as lecturer of the Men's Bible class at Druid Hills Methodist church, and election of Clyde Withers as president of the class, featured the last meeting of the religious group.

Judge Candler was presented with a large basket of chrysanthemums and roses, given as a token of appreciation by members of the Bible class for the many years of service received by the class from the eminent lecturer. The Men's Bible class is composed of a large number of Atlanta's most prominent business men.

Mr. Withers was named president of the group to succeed Arthur L. Brooke, who was elected honorary president of the class for life, in recognition of his popularity. He served for the past 12 years which resulted in notable growth and progress of the class.

Other officers elected were Graham West, vice president; Dr. Thad Morris, department of missions; R. E. Ellington, treasurer; J. W. Honour, social service; Arthur Burdett, entertainment and recreation; C. B. Cauthen, secretary; C. D. Milam, treasurer; Judge Candler, lecturer; Perry Bloodworth, assistant lecturer.

CITY GOVERNMENT FACES BUSY DAY IN MANY BRANCHES

Wheels of the Atlanta city government will turn briskly today in one of the busiest days of the month conducted in the past few months.

In addition to a special meeting of city council at 2 o'clock this afternoon, there will be four committee meetings this afternoon and tonight, as follows:

Bridge committee at 1 o'clock; finance committee at 1:30 o'clock; fire board at 3 o'clock and the police committee at 4 o'clock.

All the meetings with the exception of the police committee will be held in the reception room of the mayor's office. The police board will meet at the police station.

GENERAL CORRECTS ITEM ON CATHOLIC SERVICE IN WAR

Columbus, Ga., October 30.—(AP)—Major-General Paul B. Malone, commanding the sixth corps area, declared here last night en route from Augusta, Ga., to Chicago that he had been misquoted in the report of his speech Sunday in the former city before the Catholic Laymen's Association of Georgia concerning the number of Catholics in military service during the world war.

He said the statement he made was: "In all of our national emergencies, Catholics have shouldered their proportionate burden of national defense; in some organizations in the world war the ratio amounted to 40 per cent."

He had been quoted as saying that in that war "40 per cent of those American forces were Catholics."

C. S. CARNES INDICTED ON TWO MORE COUNTS

Embezzlement of $32,000 in Bonds Charged in New True Bills.

Two more links in the chain of indictments about Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the Baptist Home Mission board, were welded Tuesday when the Fulton grand jury returned a pair of true bills charging Carnes with further embezzlements from the Baptist board. The total of indictments against Carnes is now 20.

One of Tuesday's indictments charges Carnes with embezzling $25,000 in par value 4 1/2 per cent Liberty bonds, while the other alleges that he embezzled and sold $2,000 of the value of $22,000 in bonds from the East Coast Railway bonds, and $3,000 of par value five per cent Bell Telephone Company of Canada bonds belonging to the home mission board.

Negro Undertaker Indicted.

Jesse H. Hanley, negro undertaker, was indicted on charges of receiving stolen goods. The true bill alleges that Hanley bought a quantity of caskets handles, coffin plates, different sets of hardware, fixtures, etc., from Daniel T. Howard and company, Inc., negro undertakers, by John Allen and Marvin Wellons.

Horace Jones was indicted as an alleged accessory after the fact to larceny from the house in the general property. In the case, the same bill alleging that Jones aided Allen and Wellons in moving the Howard company's property to Hanley's place. Allen and Wellons were tried and convicted in the case, the true bill points out.

Burglary Charged.

Charges of burglarizing a room in a local hotel were entered against H. J. McElroy, N. E. He is charged with larceny from the house. McElroy is charged with having burglarized the room of Walter H. Lunder, in the Hampton hotel, it being alleged that he took clothes valued at $12.25 from the room. McElroy is charged with robbing Hattie Brown, of the Hampton hotel, of a dress, some hose and an apron, in the larceny after-trust indictment.

Charges of burglarizing the store of D. Shalloway and company, at 91 Peachtree, N. E. are contained in an indictment. The defendants are Kermit Helton, L. C. Lanier and William J. Moon. The defendants are charged with taking clothing valued at $432. Kermit Helton and Walter Jones are charged in an indictment with larceny of an automobile from D. C. Black, who does not live there.

John Fears is charged in a burglary indictment of having stolen four straight backed, leather bottomed chairs from the Mount Pleasant Primitive Baptist church.

FULTON PRISONER
SEEKING RELEASE
BY HABEAS CORPUS

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus to release C. W. Beasley from custody of the Fulton county public works on the ground that he has legally completed his 12-month sentence was filed Tuesday in Fulton superior court.

Application for the writ shows that Beasley was sentenced by Judge Jesse Wood in criminal court of Atlanta on January 21, 1927, under the name of Joe Beasley, alias Joe Tucker, to serve 12 months for a state prohibition law violation. On March 28, 1927, Beasley was delivered to the warden of public works, and on February 3, 1927, he was liberated on an order signed by Judge Wood, and the sentence was suspended, the petition shows.

On February 13, 1928, according to the petition, Beasley was brought back to the warden. When again, the order of suspension was revoked, Beasley was sent back to the public works to serve eight months. Judge Virgil B. Moore set the case for a hearing on Thursday. The petition was filed by John G. Slappay as attorney.

ESCAPED GEORGIA
CONVICT CAPTURED
IN MEMPHIS, TENN.

Police authorities of Memphis are holding in that city E. B. Patterson, escaped Georgia convict, it was announced Tuesday by the state prison commissioners.

Patterson was convicted in Fulton county on a burglary charge in 1918 and given a five-year sentence. He escaped soon after he was recaptured to the chain gang but was recaptured after a few days. About a year later he made another successful break for liberty and has been on the run since 1917, more than 11 years. Claude Mills, Fulton county deputy warden, left Tuesday for Memphis to bring the prisoner back to Georgia.

JUSTICE ON TRIAL FOR IMPERSONATION
OF ARMY SERGEANT

The case of Wilbur E. Justice, on trial in Judge Samuel H. Sibley's United States court since last Friday on a charge of impersonating a government official, is expected to go to the jury this morning following the completion of attorneys' arguments. Submission of evidence was concluded just prior to the court's adjournment Tuesday afternoon.

According to the charges against Justice, he tricked the country in an automobile impersonating a army sergeant and using a faked furlough as identification in obtaining money and supplies by fraud. D. J. Pifero, said to have been his companion, has been convicted on a similar charge and is serving time in the federal penitentiary, it was reported.

Marine Recruiting
Truck Will Visit
2 Georgia Towns

In response to requests from young men in the vicinity of Carrollton and Douglasville, the corps recruiting truck, with Public Sergeant Wilhelm F. Meyers and William S. Brewer, U. S. M. C., two members of the local recruiting station, at 79 1/2 South Forsyth street, have been ordered to Captain George W. Spotts, U. S. M. C., at Marietta, to leave Thursday for these cities. Stops will be made at various towns en route, where the marine sergeants will distribute advertising material.

While in Douglasville headquarters will be established in the lobby of the Alpine theater in connection with Richard Dix's latest film, "Moral of the Marines," the feature picture at that playhouse, which was filmed with marines on active service as the actors.

"WIGGLE AND WOBBLE."

In his Baltimore address Governor Smith scored the republican party for "wiggling and wobbling."
He introduced this extremely engaging part of a notable address with the following statement:

"Eight years ago the republican party placarded the country with signs that read: 'Let us get away from wiggle and wobble.' In no similar period in the history of the country has there been as much wiggling and wobbling as there has been in the last seven and a half years. The chief spokesmen of the republican party are wobbling all over on the prohibition question. Their wires are crossed.
Senator Borah holds prohibition to be the overshadowing issue of the campaign. Governor Hughes, on the other hand, referred to it as a sham-battle and dismissed it as being no part of this campaign. Mr. Hoover finds himself caught between the wiggle and the wobble and he gets off the hook entirely by referring to it as a noble experiment."

It is a good subject for some elucidation in addition to the party's wholly evasive and trimming position on the prohibition issue.

Let us take the republican party's foreign policy, and that of Candidate Hoover:

In 1919, following the treaty of Versailles, Mr. Hoover, along with Governor Hughes, former Secretary Taft Root, and other republican leaders, strongly advocated the ratification of the treaty, and the entry of this government into the League of Nations. At that time Mr. Hoover was not quite certain as to whether he was a democrat or a republican. As a straighter path of less resistance to accomplish his political ambitions, as he subsequently appraised the situation, he joined the republican party. At any rate at the time he was outspokenly for the League of Nations.

In the political campaign of 1920 the republican "old guard" saw an opportunity to capitalize the natural post-war unrest, and to profit upon the sorrows that had entered so many homes by reason of the sacrifices of war. It thereupon entered the fight against the ratification of the treaty, against the entry of this nation into the league, and "made these two antagonisms the issues of the campaign. Mr. Hoover wiggled and wobbled, and forgetting all he had said, reversed his policy, and joined his republican allies.

After the election of Senator
Harding, of Ohio, to the presidency, and the entry of Mr. Hoover into his cabinet, the party leaders saw that they couldn't "get by" without some kind of a world peace movement so the international disarmament conference was called and the allied power agreed. It was held in Washington—a noble gesture.

The farcical result has long since been proven. Before the term of President Harding expired, burdened by official scandals that swept like prairie fires through his administration, he passed out. Honest himself, but too easy and too trusting, the strain of an unbearable situation of corruption was too great for physical and mental endurance.

Upon the entry of Vice President Coolidge into the white house the farmers of this nation had been brought to their knees by the closing of foreign markets due to America's policy of isolation.

President Coolidge began to wiggle and wobble, and finally came forth with a really powerful appeal to congress in the interest of America's entry into the world court of international justice. Then some of his party colleagues began more wiggling and wobbling, and subsequently President Coolidge dropped it. He had been a viper.

Mr. Hoover, then secretary of commerce, wiggled into the world court idea when the president was for it, and he wobbled out of it when he dropped it.

In this campaign nothing has been said about it.

Take the question of farm relief legislation as another instance of wiggling and wobbling. The 1920 and the 1924 republican platforms pledged "relief." President Coolidge devoted a great portion of his first regular message to congress to the subject. The fight in congress came. A relief bill was overwhelmingly passed. The president vetoed it. Another congress passed it, as reported at the time. He again vetoed it. In seven and a half years of administrative and congressional power not a governmental hand has been raised to help the farmer along practical surplus absorbing lines.

The administration wiggled in with loud gestures and wobbled out with a scornful frown, and Mr.
Hoover, a member of the cabinet,
wiggled in and out with the president whose policies he says he endorses to the letter.

Take the Mississippi flood control as an illustration. Mr. Hoover, in speeches and statements, in the flooded area and during the height of the distress, was loudly acclaiming that the Mississippi and its tributaries belonged to the nation
—as they do. Therefore he declared that upon the national government necessarily fell the duty and the obligation to protect the people, and to provide substantial and ending control methods.

The president sent out an SOS call for his secretary of commerce and told him his views were quite to the contrary—that the overflowed and distressed states, in the great inundated area, should enter into the costs of providing such control methods. Thereupon Mr.
Hoover wobbled out faster than he had wiggled in, and completely reversing his position, again said "me, too."

And thus the illustrations could be carried on and on. The republican party has done nothing but wiggle and wobble since March 4, 1921, and Mr. Hoover, the chief of trimmers, though the would-be czar of this great nation, has clearly demonstrated himself to be the "imperial Wizard of the Wigglers and Wobblers."

HIS MOTHER'S TEACHINGS.

The great ovation given to Governor
Smith in Baltimore Monday night, when he spoke in the great auditorium in which Woodrow Wilson was nominated for president in 1912, with the widow of the late war president on the stage as a silent token of her ardor and support, was but a repetition of the great outpouring of the sentiment of the masses that has been expressed at every appearance of the democratic candidate since the national campaign of 1912.

It is a good subject for some

Caraway Demands Borah Justify Campaign Attitude With His Record in Senate

Senator Says Idahoan Charged Hoover Aided Special Interests as Food Administrator.

St. Joseph, Mo., October 30.—(P) Senator T. H. Caraway, of Arkansas, asked Senator William E. Borah to justify his present campaign utterances with his record in the United States senate in an address here today.

Senator Caraway quoted from both the Congressional Record and from passages attributed to Senator Borah in his address to Herbert Hoover, republican presidential nominee.

Caraway also quoted the record of the Harding and Coolidge administrations and said the conventions which nominated Harding and Hoover were "run from behind the scenes, without the rank and file knowing what went on."

As food administrator, he said, enabled special interests to make huge sums of profits. "Unfortunately, however, for Mr. Borah and Mr. Hoover," he said, "the same senator Borah has made himself most explicit in his charges that the same old Hoover, while food administrator in America, had used that office to enable special interests, particularly the packers, to make unconscionable profits. That while women begged and children starved, he permitted the packers and large food companies to raise the price of food in this country so that they realized profit of from 20 to 40 per cent."

"Likewise, the senator knew, because he participated in the discussion of the measure for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for relief. Mr. Hoover, it is now alleged, also agreed to provide relief for suffering people of Europe and save tottering governments. It was being appropriated under a bill written in Mr. Hoover department, and sponsored by Mr. Hoover, and passed by the Republican Senate which forbade one mouthful of food purchased under it to reach the German people (Congressional Record, page 1,923, January 23, 1919). This declaration is sustained by Senator Simon and Senator Lodge and others."

In summing up his remarks regarding Borah's stand on the $100,000,000 relief bill for starving Europeans, Senator Caraway declared "much more might be added in the same characterization of Mr. Hoover, though I am inclined to believe that either Mr. Hoover is a man without character, the surverying tool and agent of sinister interests; the aider and abettor of those who plunder the American people, or that the senator from Idaho, Mr. Borah, is a man utterly reckless in his statements and an utter lack of character. The reputations of both cannot survive. One is destroyed."

CHICAGO'S BALLOT SIX INCHES LONG FOUR FEET WIDE

Chicago, October 30.—(P) Advocates of the "short ballot" will seek small satisfaction from the freak ballot that will confront Chicago voters at the polls next week. The slip of paper on which the voters will mark down their choice for municipal judges will be only six inches long but four feet wide.

The reason for the unusual shape was the large number of independent candidates for the bench, each of whom must be allotted a separate column headed by the ("party") name or slogan he chooses.

OPPOSITION PARTY WINS IN ELECTION IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Saint John, N. F., October 30.—(P) The opposition party of Sir Richard Seddon, former premier, had a majority of three members over the United Newfoundland, or government party led by F. C. Alderidge. It was revealed this morning by complete results of the 37 districts in which polling took place yesterday in the Newfoundland elections.

H. N. Bust, minister of post, was defeated in Port de Grave, and W. J. Walsh, minister of agriculture, lost in Harbor Malise.

Pittsburgh Jury Indicts 252 Persons For Law Violations

Pittsburgh, October 30.—(P) Indictment of 252 persons on charges of violating the prohibition and gambling laws was recommended by the Allegheny county grand jury today. Those named by the jury included two police lieutenants, four magistrates, an alderman, two justices of the peace and several constables.

The jury reported its investigation had hardly begun and would be continued until most of those recommended for indictment today were accepted "protection money" from the underworld.

The grand jury, in its presentation, said that slot machines were operating throughout the county "without any interference by the police."

Judge James Drew approved the recommendation and the list was returned to the jury for formal indictment.

AMERICAN OPERA CO. SEEKS LOCAL SINGERS

With one of its primary objects the establishment of an American national organization, presenting modernized versions of the great operas and great music dramas as in understandable English, the American Opera company, which plays a short engagement at the Egyptian theater in the first half of next week, is seeking to discover all the worth while voices among young Americans, for incorporation in the great organization.

With this object in view Frank St. Leger, musical director of the company and former conductor of the City Opera, has announced that during the company's stay here, November 5, 6 and 7, he will receive applications from Atlanta professional singers who feel they are ready for the opportunity to enter the opera field.

All applications for auditions must be in writing addressed to Mr. St. Leger, conductor of the Egyptian theater, and must state the applicant's extent of training, type of voice and professional experience. During the Atlanta engagement Director St. Leger will endeavor to arrange auditions for all applicants.

Those seeking admission to training and engagement with this noted company.

There are already one hundred of the finest voices among the company's members, with their own orchestra of thirty, and the exact stage productions which recently created sensations in Chicago, will present "Faust," "Butterfly," "Figaro," and "Carmen," in modern style, sung in perfect English, for the Atlanta engagement.

It is expected that Atlanta will produce a representative artist for engagement with this company next season. Twenty-three states are now represented among the 100 singers of the company, but as yet Georgia is not included in the roster of natives in this, the first American national opera company.

TWO BADLY INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS

A. Bailey, of 732 South Pryor street, was treated at Grady hospital Tuesday afternoon for a probable fracture of the skull and injuries to his left side, as the result of being struck down by a truck at Gilmer and Ivy streets. The truck was driven by a negro, M. Kirkpatrick, of 107 Bell street, who is being held on charges of suspicion, pending an investigation of the accident. Bailey was taken to the hospital in the private ambulance of Ed Bond and Condon company.

Mrs. R. J. Elliott, 47, of 1071 Bankhead avenue, suffered a fractured skull and a broken collar bone in an automobile accident late Tuesday afternoon. She was taken to Grady hospital. She was taken to Grady hospital but no details of the accident were given to attach her. Police have no report of the accident.

Call Officer E. W. Ginn was severely shaken up and sustained minor cuts and bruises. He was taken to jail, which was taking a prisoner to jail, collided with another car driven by H. L. White, of 508 South Pryor street, at Whitehall and Trinity avenues. Officer Ginn was given first aid treatment at Grady hospital and then taken to his home.

91 MORE BODIES OF FLORIDA STORM REPORTED FOUND

West Palm Beach, Fla., October 30.—(P) The bodies of 91 hurricane flood victims have been recovered in the Lake Okeechobee region since October 18, Fred Safety, sanitary officer of the state board of health, announced here today.

Safety, who is in charge of the recovery and cleanup work in the region said seven bodies were found today and that 19 were recovered on Monday.

This work, financed by the Jackson ville relief committee, is being carried on under the direct supervision of the state board of health. Forty-one men are engaged in it and virtually the whole affected area has been covered during the last three weeks.

Bodies now being recovered are estimated, Safety said. He did not believe many additional dead would be located until flood waters have subsided.

DAUGHTER OF CZAR RETAINS LAWYER IN IDENTITY CASE

New York, October 30.—Mme. Anastasia Tschauder, who claims she is the Grand Duchess Anastasia, youngest daughter of the late Czar Nicholas, has retained a lawyer to press her claims.

Edward W. Fallows, the lawyer, is gathering material which he says will prove her identity beyond a doubt. Property is held by the Grand Duchess Xenia, sister of the late czar, and other property in Finland and elsewhere will be claimed for Anastasia.

Both Mr. Fallows and Gleb Botkin, former playmate of the czar's children, charge that Grand Duchess Xenia is her mother and has repudiated her in order to claim the czar's property.

Anastasia is a guest in the country of Mrs. William B. Leeds, the former Princess Xenia, of Russia.

Tokyo, October 30.—(P) Emperor Hirohito this morning received in audience as a preliminary to his enthronement, foreign envoys and ministers who were specially appointed enthronement envoys. Those received included Charles MacVeagh, American ambassador. The ceremony was held in the Phoenix hall of the imperial palace.

Seventeen of those received were given high decorations as ambassadors. MacVeagh was not included owing to the American ban on foreign decorations.

City and County Workers Rally to Support of Al Smith

Leaders of the city and Fulton county governments who attended the meeting Monday afternoon at Fulton county courthouse are seen in the above picture. Nearly 1,000 employees attended an enthusiastic meeting in behalf of the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential nominee. They denied charges that any attempt had been made to "weild a big stick to force employees" to vote the democratic ticket in next Tuesday's election, declaring they do not have to be coerced into supporting "the most progressive and cleanest man in public life today." Those seen in the photograph from left to right, front row, are: J. M. Geory, Judge Luther Rosser, Walton Simons, Charles B. Shelton, chairman of the Fulton County Democratic club; Major John S. Cohen, national committeeman from Georgia; Emmett Quinn, Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward representing the city at the meeting; Edwin F. Johnson, tax receiver-elect of Fulton county; Walter B. Stewart, chairman of Fulton county commissioners and vice chairman of the Fulton county democratic organization; back row, left to right: Charles F. Hubner, Bond Almand, president of the Young Men's Democratic League of Fulton county; Deputy Sheriff W. G. McNair, Chief of Fulton County Police George P. Mathieson, Councilman H. Turner Loehr, of the first ward; J. C. Harris, secretary of the Fulton county board of registrars, and Councilman Robert Cobb, of the ninth ward.

MOSES M. COLEMAN, TOOMBS PIONEER, DIES OF INJURIES

GRiffin LEADER DIES SUDDENLY IN STORE

Lyons, Ga., October 30.—(Special) —Moses M. Coleman, 77, died Monday evening at a hospital in Vidalia from injuries received when he ran over a car on the street of Lyons Monday afternoon. Mr. Coleman was one of Toombs county pioneer citizens. He moved to this county in 1896 from Emanuel county and entered the mercantile business in Lyons. He built several stores. He also built the Vidalia hotel. There he sold in 1919 after moving his residence halfway between Lyons and Vidalia, and practically retiring from active business due to serious impairment of his eyesight. He was the moving power in building the Lyons Primitive Baptist church.

Mr. Coleman was born in Edgefield, South Carolina, now a part of Saluda county, in 1851. He moved to Emanuel county, Georgia, when young and there met and married Mrs. Mary M. McNeely in 1880. She died in October last year. The family has suffered four tragedies since the accidental death of Mr. Coleman. A son, Tillman Coleman, was killed by lightning while visiting at home in 1906 when only 10 years old. Wade Coleman, 20-year-old son, was accidentally shot in his hardware store at Soperton while trying to sell a customer a pistol. First, a prominent dentist of Augusta, was trapped by fire in his home while sleeping and burned to death.

Mr. Coleman is survived by three sons, Butler, of Savannah; Moses, Jr., and Gary, of Lyons; two daughters, Mrs. Jim Gibbs, of Jacksonville, and Mrs. C. N. Rountree, of Talbot Springs; two grandsons, J. T. Colson of Milton, Fla., and Milton of Columbia, S. C.; three sisters, Mrs. W. G. Wood, of Swainsboro; Mrs. G. H. Brown, of Garfield, Ga., and Mrs. W. P. Rountree, of Summit, Ga. Funeral services will be held from the Lyons Primitive Baptist church Wednesday afternoon with Rev. W. B. Wilkerson conducting the services.

President's ability to perform his duties, he told the secretaries that the president was in control of all of his faculties and wanted to be informed of what authority the cabinet was called together.

Act Angers Wilson.
Before Mr. Lansing could reply, the story told at the time said, some one asked Admiral Grayson to assure the president that his aides only wanted to inquire of his health and to send him a message of loyalty. The meeting then broke up, but even that did not end the so-called cabinet conference. It was the opinion of those closest to the controversy however, that Mr. Wilson did not know this.

At any rate the president finally took action to end them, and on February 13, 1920, copies of a sharp exchange between Mr. Wilson and his aides were made public, the paper dealing with the cabinet meetings. This exchange included a brief letter of resignation from Mr. Lansing.

Robert Lansing became head of the state department directly as a result of the disagreement of President Wilson and Mr. Bryan over the Pan-American notes. At the time Mr. Lansing was counsellor of the department, and while his name was signed to subsequent notes to Germany, they were written by the war time president. Was 64 Years Old.

There was also talk that Mr. Lansing disagreed with his chief over the United States' policy toward Mexico. In the Senate foreign relations committee, he was a distinguished diplomat and was held in high esteem. Even in calling the cabinet conferences during the Wilson administration he believed he was following precedent set during the time President Garfield was hovering between life and death after being shot by an assassin.

Mr. Lansing was 64 years old at the time of his death. He was born at Watertown, N. Y., and entered the state department in 1914 as a counselor, but before this he had represented the United States on various international missions for more than 20 years. He was a graduate of Amherst and a lawyer by profession.

President Coolidge immediately sent a letter to Mrs. Lansing when he heard of her husband's death.

"I have learned with the deepest sorrow of the passing of your distinguished husband, the former Secretary of State, during the short period of a great war, and his subsequent part in establishing peace, assure him a place in history."

"Mrs. Coolidge joins me in hearty sympathy with you and for the memory of your family."

Among other expressions of regret was one from Secretary of State Kellogg and another from Herbert Hoover.

The governor despite the arduous condition, to which he is in the present of the concluding stage of the fight. His voice apparently has withdrawn the wear and tear to which it has been subjected and has shown no signs of giving way under the burden. This was one of the concerns of the nominating committee, which called him off for that reason, with few exceptions, he has refused to speak in the open air—even thought amplifiers were installed.

Today the special train in which the governor traveled from Albany, N. Y., to Newark and then down the Hudson down the Atlantic seaboard was broken up as the short trip to Newark will be made by automobile.

PALMER BLACKBURN IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Former Broker, Now at Prison Farm, Charged With Infidelity.

Palmer Blackburn, former Atlanta stockbroker, is now serving a sentence at the state prison farm on a plea of guilty to charges of larceny after trust and forgery, was made defendant in a divorce suit filed Tuesday in Fulton superior court.

Although his wife, Mrs. Leila Legg Blackburn, did not name a co-respondent, the divorce petition alleges infidelity as the principal ground, and cites a specific offense in Miami, Fla., in March of 1926. Mrs. Blackburn asks custody of her two children.

The couple were married in March of 1917.

Blackburn was sentenced on June 25 on a plea of guilty to two indictments of larceny after trust and one of forgery, and was given a three to five year term by Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

Mrs. Blackburn stuck to her husband staunchly during his financial troubles, and declares she learned of the charges she now brings against him during the past few weeks.

The divorce petition was filed by Troutman and Troutman for Mrs. Blackburn.

The couple were married in March of 1917.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE HOLDS COMMUNICATION

More Than Thousand in Macon for Annual Gathering.

Macon, Ga., October 20.—(P)—Approximately 1,100 Masons from all parts of Georgia were here today to attend the opening session of the Georgia Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., at the Grand Lodge building. Raymond Daniel, grand master, who presided over the meeting, delivered his annual address.

The election of officers tomorrow morning will mark the opening of the second day of the convention. A movement for the reelection of Grand Master Daniel was on foot, it was reported.

During the afternoon session today Mrs. Vista Smith-Brown, worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, was introduced with Mrs. Rowena Ward, grand secretary of the order, and Mrs. Sennie Hubbard, a prominent member of the organization. Mrs. Brown reported to the grand lodge the Eastern Star gift of $7,450 toward financing the $100,000 hospital for tubercular children which Georgia Masons have undertaken at Alto, Ga.

Following the report of the grand master in the morning, the appointments for various executive committees were read by Grand Secretary Frank F. Baker. These committees, which met during the afternoon and night, will make their reports tomorrow. A short executive session was held.

Children from the Masonic home attended part of the afternoon session. They entered the auditorium led by Rev. Charles L. Bass, of Atlanta, past grand master. After a brief musical program these children were entertained at an informal reception in the basement of the Grand Lodge building. Of the 201 inmates of the home, 104 are boys, 95 girls and two are deaf women.

A banquet at the Hotel Dempsey tonight was given in honor of the grand lodge officers of the Grand City Lodge per two of the Grand City Lodge.

Visiting grand officers were introduced to the delegates this morning with a number of past masters. Among these were Robert Travis, Savannah; George M. Napier, Atlanta; N. H. Ballard, Atlanta; Thomas Jeffreys, Atlanta; G. O. Miller, Fort Valley; Dr. Joe P. Bowdoin, Adairsville; Dr. J. D. Hamrick, Carrollton; W. L. Richardson, Atlanta; Dr. Charles L. Bass, Atlanta; Dr. A. G. Miller, of Macon.

Trustees of the Masonic home, who met during the afternoon, were J. B. Moore, Dr. John A. Moore, Dr. James Veedor, Robert H. Jones, Dr. James D. Hamrick, George H. Fields and Dr. W. G. England.

The souvenir badge of the convention this year was made in the form of a medallion, which was presented to the representation of the Alto hospital, which has been for two years a major work of the organization in Georgia.

Funds for the building of the institution, which was to be given to the state when completed, were started two years ago by a large contribution from the grand lodge.

There are now approximately 72,000 Masons in Georgia officials at the grand lodge meeting stated, with about 670 lodges scattered over the state.

In the Masonic grand lodge meeting at the Macon chapter of the Order of DeMolay was formed, the degrees being conferred upon 60 candidates by a team of 25 boys from the Albany, Ga., chapter, who arrived here today. The Macon chapter, just being organized, is being sponsored by the Marshall A. Weir chapter, F. & A. M., of Atlanta. A delegation of Masons to the grand lodge witnessed the ceremony, which is secret.

The institutional ceremony was conducted by the following grand officiers representing the grand council of the Order of DeMolay at Kansas City:

Howard Geldert, of Atlanta, deputy for the grand council of the state of Georgia, who acted as grand master counsellor; Henry L. Brown, Savannah, chairman of the St. Louis grand senior counsellor; C. B. Whiting, advisor to the Albany chapter, as grand junior counsellor; Charles A. McAllister, visiting master; Macon, constistory, Scottish Rite; as grand scribe; Eugene Gandy, advised Atlanta chapter, as grand chaplain; Park Williams, chairman of the national advisory council; Dr. W. L. Hudson, council DeMolay chapter, as grand marshal; and Howard A. Williams, chairman Marshall A. Weir chapter of Macon, as grand senior deacon.

The Albany boys and the Macon boys were entertained at a banquet at the Masonic Temple just before the initiation ceremony.

Dry Agents Win Jury Acquittal In Murder Trial

Vaidosta, Ga., October 20.—(P)—Testimony indicating that the shoot-out between the defense and the shooting was accidental. The prosecution charged that Carroll was shot while the Hudsons were pursuing his automobile without a warrant.

Admitting that young Hudson shot Carroll, the defense held that the shooting was accidental. The prosecution charged that Carroll was shot while the Hudsons were pursuing his automobile without a warrant.

Taking the stand in his own defense, the younger Hudson, a deputy agent, told of firing at the times of Carroll's shots during the chase. A bullet from his gun hit him in the head, but he did not feel pain.

Defense counsel declared that the officers were surprised to find that their usual efforts to enforce the dry laws and in a plea to "strengthen the hands of prohibition officers" asserted that they had "reasonable cause to suspect Carroll," then at liberty under bond in a liquor case, of "actually carrying intoxicants in his car."

The medical staff did not come up for election, as they are elected for two-year terms.

YOUNG BRYAN DENIES STATEMENT HE IS FOR HOOVER

New York, October 20.—(P)—John Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, made public to a telegram from the Democratic national committee of California, quoting William Jennings Bryan, Jr., of Los Angeles, as denying that Bryan declared Herbert Hoover "is the man for the place." Published reports said Mr. Bryan made his statement at a luncheon in Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. Bryan, son of the late William Jennings Bryan, was in Lincoln according to the telegram, but did not attend the luncheon and made no such statement.

At the time ever comes when I feel it necessary to repudiate the democratic party," the telegram quoted him as stating, "the announcement will come from me direct."

Admitting that young Hudson shot Carroll, the defense held that the shooting was accidental. The prosecution charged that Carroll was shot while the Hudsons were pursuing his automobile without a warrant.

Society To Dine and Dance In Halloween Atmosphere

Society will dine and dance in a charmed atmosphere this evening, the merry mood of Halloween pervading the elaborate balls given by the Piedmont Driving club, the East Lake Country club, and the Shriners, who will entertain at the Druid Hills Golf club. Gay and colorful decorations will feature the affairs of the day and hostesses will take advantage of the occasion to provide a variety of unusual entertainment.

The presence of the Debutante club seated with a number of young men at a large table will contribute unusual interest to the ball at the Driving club which will assemble several hundred members of prominent Atlanta society.

The annual Halloween ball at the East Lake Country club will attract its members and their visitors in large numbers, the decorations and favors, imported for the occasion, to form an interesting feature.

The Shriners' ball will claim its quota of society, assembling for dinner and dancing at the Druid Hills Golf club. The college set will celebrate Halloween at the dance to be given by the Delta Gamma Phi sorority at the country home of Mrs. V. H. Kriegshaber and at the annual dinner at which the Sigma Chi fraternity entertains at the chapter house on North Decatur road.

Brides-elect, recent brides and charming visitors will furnish inspiration for other affairs of an informal nature at which Atlanta hostesses will entertain today.

Halloween Dance At West End Club.

A special Halloween dance will be given at the West End Woman's club, 1100 Cascade avenue, Wednesday evening. Costume is requested but not required. Prizes will be awarded to the best dressed by the judges as appearing in the most suitable costumes for the occasion.

Miss Laura Johnston will be hostess. Mrs. Obie Johnston and other club members will be present as chaperones. Frank Ely, Mr. Bob Jones, Jr., and O. B. Busbee will be in charge of the floor. For other information call Mrs. O. B. Busbee, West 1399-W.

Former Atlantan Will Wed In Nashville, Tenn.

The following excerpt from the Nashville Tennesseean, of October 28, is of interest here.

One of the most interesting November weddings will be that of Miss Emilene Hilton Boyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Boyer of this city, to Edward Robert Kinnebrew, of Nashville, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., Thursday evening, November 8, has been selected for the date of the ceremony, which takes place at 7 o'clock at the Church of the Advent. The bride's parents, Dr. Preston Pugh, will be the officiant and the nuptial music will be given by a boy choir.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father, and her maid of honor attendant will be her younger sister, Miss Betty Boyer. Mrs. Lillian Templeton will sing, and the bridesmaids will include Miss Lucy Ann McGugin, Miss Martha Coles, Miss Frances Goodlett, Miss Mary Frances Blair and Miss Frances Moore.

James Houston Johnston, of Atlanta, will serve as Mr. Kinnebrew's best man, and the groomsmen will be Luke Lee, Jr., Joseph Wallace, Jr., Will Poll Kirkman, Samuel C. Boyer, Jr., brother of the bride; Harrison Hopper and John J. Smith, of St. Louis.

The bride came to Nashville with parents from their former home in Athens, Ohio, during her school days. She attended Ward-Belmont, from where she graduated in the voice department as a pupil of Miss Florence Boyer. Her beautiful lyric voice was further developed under the tutelage of Salvatore Piccolo, who was former coach to the great Caruso.

Mr. Kinnebrew came originally from Athens, Ga., and in later years has resided in Atlanta, having come to Nashville on account of his business associations with Mr. W. W. Company, who attended college at Georgia School of Technology, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity, and served as a lieutenant in the aviation corps during the world war.

Miss Leake Weds Mr. Mitchell At Church Ceremony in Marietta

Marietta, Ga., October 30.—The marriage of Miss Henriette Cortelyou Leake and Thomas Howard Mitchell, of Atlanta, was a brilliant event. The ceremony was at the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Patton performed the ceremony in the presence of a representative assemblage of southern society.

The bridal party entered from the rear of the church, the bride in white, and stood in front of the altar, forming a tableau against the colorful background of foliage and flowers. The ushers were: Lindsey Roberts of Atlanta; Jack Chaille, of Miami; Frank McDonald, of Madison; Malcolm Wick, of Atlanta; and J. Lewis Turner of Marietta. The groomsmen included Frank Armstrong, of Savannah; James Lester, of Montezuma; Bruce Vick of Albany, and Jack Patterson, of Atlanta.

The charming matron of honor, Mrs. L. Lewis, the sister of the bride, wore a gold chiffon taffeta gown, the long waist and softly flaring skirt, made with uneven hem line and adorned with lace of the same shade.

The maid of honor, Miss L. Treille Smith, of Atlanta, and the bridesmaids, Miss Nancy Foster, of Atlanta; Miss Alice Rowland, of Athens; Miss Elizabeth Leonard, of Spartanburg, and Miss Beatrice Sackett, of New York, wore chiffon taffeta gowns, fashioned alike, with long, flowing bodices and full skirts with uneven hem line, shading from pale pink to deep orchid. They were adorned with appliqued flowers and featured bows of hand-painted ribbon at the waistline. The right shoulders were decorated with bows of the streamers falling into floor-length trains, decorated with sprays of the same flowers in their bouquets. They were chokers of brilliants, the gifts of the bride, and carried bouquets of Columbian roses and geraniums tied with green satin ribbon.

Radiant Bride.

The bride entered with her cousin, Adrian V. Cortelyou, by whom she was given in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Asbury Green, of Atlanta. Her vivid blonde beauty was enhanced by her bridal gown of ivory satin, duck-embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones; modeled with tight bodice and full skirt. The satin train, fashioned with a center panel of duchess lace embroidered in seed pearls and rhinestones, was further decorated with floral designs in rhinestones and seed pearls. Her veil of tulle was becomingly fitted in cap shape to her dark hair, caught at either side with clusters of orange blossoms.

Mrs. Walter Holmes

Honors Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Walter Holmes was hostess at tea at her home on Montgomery Ferry drive in honor of Miss Hermione Walker, a popular bride-elect whose marriage to Preston Stevens will be an interesting event of November 10.

Miss D. B. Walker and Mrs. Mark Palmer presided at the tea and coffee tables and the hostess was also assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Warren Moise, Mrs. J. H. Woody, Mrs. Henry Morgan, Mrs. John Duncan and Mrs. W. W. Anderson. One hundred guests called during the afternoon.

soms and falling in graceful folds to the floor. The train was white satin slippers with bows formed of lace and sprays of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a pin of pearls and diamonds, the gift of her cousin, Adrian V. Cortelyou, the pin being an heirloom in the Cortelyou family, and it had been worn by the late Mrs. Adrian V. Cortelyou on her wedding anniversary. Her bouquet was of white roses, showered with lilies of the valley and tied with white satin ribbon.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Paul Leake, entertained with a reception at the Golf club, which was elaborately decorated. The chandeliers and wall brackets were festooned with southern smilax, and the walls shaded with green and white double ferns, palms and foliage plants, interspersed with all pedestal baskets filled with white chrysanthemums and dahlias, were effectively arranged throughout the club, carrying out the color motif of green and white.

Receiving with the bride and groom were the mother of the bride, Mrs. Leake, mother of the bride; Adrian V. Cortelyou, cousin of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. David Brydie Mitchell, of Columbus, parents of the groom.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left for a wedding journey to Daytona Beach, Fla., and upon their return, November 10, will be at home at 201 Seminole drive in Cherokee Heights. The bride's traveling costume was a stunning model of brown satin, fashioned two-piece, worn with a chic soft hat, lizard skin slippers and a fur-trimmed coat. Completing this ensemble was a coat of brown, trimmed with luxuriant fur.

Among the out-of-town guests were:

Studio Club Will Honor Miss Staunton.

The Studio club will hold its usual Wednesday afternoon tea at 104 1/2 Forsyth street. The hostesses will be Mrs. Conrad and Mrs. J. Harrison. The guest of honor will be Miss Lucy Staunton, the miniaturist, who is now exhibiting at the club.

Miss Staunton, who has achieved international renown as a miniature painter, is a frequent exhibitor at the Societe Nationale des Beaux-Arts and at all important American exhibitions. She began her art studies in New Orleans and continued them in Paris at several studios with Lucien Simon, Georges Braque, Prince Deneches and Augustus Koopman. Miss Staunton is a member of the following societies: The Pennsylvania Society of Miniature Painters, American Society of Miniature Painters, National Association of Women Painters, Washington Water Color Club, Cosmopolitan association, Copley Art society, Boston, and the Guild of Boston Artists. Her work is represented in many private and historical collections in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, New Orleans, Chicago and Atlanta, where her portrait of Mayor Charles Collier at the state capitol is familiar to all.

Lake Completed At Brenau College.

Gainesville, Ga., October 30.—Marking the official opening of the new mammoth artificial lake just completed, the college's first canoe carnival was celebrated Friday afternoon, beginning at 4:30 o'clock. Interclass races were the features of the program, each of the four classes being represented by canoe teams and canoes draped with the respective class colors. Winners of events were as follows: Senior race, Mrs. Berry and Misses Sherry; junior class race, Jacque Snyder and Jo Green; sophomore class race, Betty Miles and Peggy Cox; stern-and-race Jo Green; tour in a canoe race won by juniors and freshmen; tilting, won by Peggy Berry and Jo Green. A tandem race which consisted of various forms of wheeled carts given by the upper classes of the physical education department.

A barbecue, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Turpen, college dietician, completed the day's program. Brenau's new artificial lake covers approximately 20 acres and will provide adequate room for swimming and diving, canoeing, boating and other water sports.

Charming Sub-Debs Typify Colorful Spirit of Halloween In Wearing Costumes Befitting This Festive Occasion

The festive and colorful spirit of Halloween is typified in the above photograph which represents a trio of attractive sub-debs and a lovely bride reading spooky and romantic stories from the pages of a book featuring vivid and exciting passages attendant upon Halloween, that eerie season of witches riding broom-sticks, grinning pumpkin faces, black cats and fantastic goblins with which fairy lore has invested the custom of observation. Reading from left to right, are Misses Louise Moore, Ruth Miller, Jacquin Moore, and the former Miss Gates Eckford, until her recent marriage to James Browner Little, of Gadsden, Ala., wearing costumes befitting the thrilling and fantastic occasion, which has been passed from generation to generation. Photograph by Kenneth Rogers, staff photographer.

Hobgoblins will walk tonight. Witches will ride their brooms across the sky. Cold shivers will run up and down the spines of those who believe in spirits and those who realize that Halloween, the eve of All Saints' day, which falls on November 1, is here again.

Celebration Festival.

Pumpkins, black cats, ghouls, pretzels, witches and goblins will amuse boys and girls out to celebrate this annual festival which dates back to the time of the Druids. Weird customs and amusing games will play a part in the observance of this day, particularly alibing with its surroundings of the supernatural. The city will be awake. And although spirits may not really walk, there will be those who realize the implication of the date and mighty unseen forces rule the world.

The observance of the day dates back to the autumn festival of the Druids, who held a festival at approximately this time, in recognition of the harvest. This ancient people believed that on the eve of this festival the Lord of Death, Saman, rallied the wicked spirits who had been condemned during the year to inhabit the bodies of animals. The evils of the harvest were banished. Bonfires and all manner of means were brought to bear to keep them away.

In the above photograph Misses Louise Moore, Ruth Miller, Jacquin Moore and the former Miss Gates Eckford, now Mrs. James Browner Little, of Gadsden, Ala., a trio of lovely subdebs, and a charming recent bride, typifying the spirit of Halloween in the above photograph revealing the nature of the festive occasion in the selection of their costumes and the reading of spooky and exciting stories from the pages of the book resting on their laps. Halloween is an eerie season, invested with fairy lore and customs handed down from generation to generation until the original lost its bearings. There is a witching hour when the maid who questions are to be handed by the juniors.

Following the study course a dinner program will include, Lewis Silverbrook, pianist; George Gershwin, pianist; Annie Clyde Edgar, axophonist; Jane Ulmer, violinist; Jo Beth Apperson, harpist. The charge for adults is 25 cents; for children 10 cents. Regular orchestra rehearsals will be held at 10 o'clock and 11 o'clock. The chorus rehearsals at 1:15 p.m.

Hadassah To Give Annual Ball Nov. 13.

The board of directors of the Atlanta chapter Hadassah met at Rich's school room recently. A motor corps will help in the various projects that will take place in the future. Plans were completed for the annual ball, which will take place at the Biltmore hotel, November 13. This ball is the social and financial affair of Atlanta Hadassah. Mrs. M. B. Koplin, chairman of this program, Mrs. S. E. Levy chairman at large, and Mrs. Wildover will have charge of refreshments. Those desiring to obtain tickets should get in touch with Mrs. S. E. Levy or Mrs. Sol Roman.

The cultural group of Atlanta Hadassah met at the Jewish Woman's club, with Mrs. F. Edison presiding. Rabbi H. Epstein, head of the program, which was a discussion of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." These cultural meetings will take place the second and fourth Wednesday of each month, under the leadership of Rabbi Epstein. The topic for the next meeting will be Scott's "Ivanhoe." The meetings will begin at 3 o'clock and all members must be punctual.

Petrels Will Throw Strong Team Against Jackets Saturday

Bell and Fox Are Counted On By Birds

Robertson Sending Men Through Light Workouts, Fearing Injuries.

BY FRED M'EAHIN.
It was early in the fall of 1926. Oglethorpe and Georgia Tech were engaged in their customary annual gridiron clash at Grant field, which ushered in the football season for Atlanta fans.

The contest was considered lightly by the Yellow Jackets. It was merely a workout for more difficult games which were to follow. For over ten years the Oglethorpe grididers had been considered the underdog and truly they were, bowing unceremoniously to the terrific onslaught of a more powerful team.

But in the memorable clash of '26 there was a sophomore halfback on the Oglethorpe squad playing his first varsity game. He decided that it was the opportune time to end this reign of dominance by the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech had enjoyed with the Atlanta Polytechnic. The sophomore, a blonde-haired sprinter who had proved his gridiron mettle on the freshman team the year previous, dashed with reckless abandon against the Jackets that afternoon and scored a touchdown for Oglethorpe, the lone point of the game. Thus the Petrels had won their first football game against the Golden Tornado. The young gentleman responsible for this unexpected victory against Tech, Cy Bell, has gained much prominence and an enviable gridiron reputation throughout the southland.

Last year Cy was lost in school during orthopedic season. The Golden Tornado blew with a mighty fury against the Stormy Petrels and Tech won the 1927 game by the score of 19-7. However, the game was much harder fought than the score indicates. In this game, probably the best played at Grant field during the entire season of 1927, the Oglethorpe Petrels made a better showing against the Jackets than any other opponent on their schedule with the exception of the Irish of Notre Dame. Oglethorpe was leading 7-0, at the half as a result of "Stout" Garlington's 90-yard dash for a touchdown. Oglethorpe was also leading at the start of the third period, 7-6. This one-point margin was overcome, however, in the first few moments of the final quarter. It appeared as though the Petrels were destined to repeat with another upset but lack of reserve linemen and to kick for any appreciable yardage at critical stages of the game spelled defeat.

In this game the Petrels scored more points against the Tornado than any other southern team. Billy Banks, the Tennessee whiz who reeled off a 90-yard dash, was the only southern football player to register against the Jackets last season.

These Oglethorpe Georgia Tech football games have always been very difficult to dope. Last year the Petrels won only two games, defeating Princeton college and Miami university.

NEWS FROM GRIDIRON CAMPS THROUGH UNITED STATES

SEVEN GAMES SET SATURDAY IN CONFERENCE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The underdogs of the Southern conference were absorbed this week in the task of revamping their teams for seven family attractions Saturday, while two conference teams prepared to invade the middle western football stronghold for intersectional frays. The other six were engaged in the south block outside the conference.

Intersectional fray, however, offered novelty, with Alabama meeting Wisconsin at Madison, and Mississippi A. and M. facing Michigan State also on foreign soil. The Crimson was in fine physical trim, although still minus Brasfield and Beal, stellar backs, who were dropped from the squad.

With Allen, diminutive quarterback, looking better, Pappenheim may get back to half for the Michigan State game when the Mississippians journey northward.

The only conference argument involved the undefeated teams is the Vanderbilt-Kentucky setto. The Commodores, conquerors of Colgate, 12 to 7; Texas, 13 to 12; Virginia, 34 to 0; and Tulane, 13 to 6, easily had the edge on paper, since Kentucky's only conference victory was over Tulane, 6 to 0.

The revamping program began with the Golden Tornado's victory over the Irish of Notre Dame. Thus the Petrels had won their first football game against the Golden Tornado. The young gentleman responsible for this unexpected victory against Tech, Cy Bell, has gained much prominence and an enviable gridiron reputation throughout the southland.

Teams in East Get Set for Close Games This Week—End Army Is Resting.

NEW YORK, October 30.—(P) Chick Mehan devoted this afternoon to the difficult task of removing overconfidence he has noted in his undefeated New York university eleven. In effect he told the boys they were not so good and to prove it, send a light but speedy second team against the varsity. The seconds dazzled the spectators with a 100% record in attack as well as with their sheer speed, scored once and threatened the varsity goal line several times. At the end the varsity was not quite so confident. That Georgetown will be easy the spectators said. The invaders from Washington bring with them an undefeated record and the country's top-point-scoring mark as well.

HANOVER, October 30.—(P) Most eastern college elevens started preparations for next Saturday's games yesterday, which happened by injuries but there was an outstanding exception in Dartmouth.

The Indians, battered into defeat by Harvard's husky squad, may take the field against Yale without the services of three leading halfbacks—Al Harrington, Fred Jackson and Skip Wolff. All are suffering from injuries that may keep them out of the Eli struggle although that has not yet been definitely determined. In addition there is some doubt as to whether Boomie and Swarthout, the regular ends, will be able to play.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., October 30.—(P) The Crimson Tide, preparing for its invasion of the middle west for an intersectional game with the University of Wisconsin, finds virtually all of the Alabama grididers in good physical condition but with the squad still minus the present record is not really up to par. Two backs. Present indications are that the gang that started against Sewanee will face the Big Ten team. The Crimson Tide is working mostly on a forward pass defense.

RALEIGH, N. C., October 30.—(P) A lengthy practice consisting chiefly of running and stretching followed an intensive training period of the North Carolina State varsity in preparation for the University of North Carolina here Saturday.

Two changes were made by Coach Terrell in the regular lineup. George Silver was placed on right end and the veteran, Frank Gordon, went to the slot. Hank McLawhorn, sophomore, ran in Chink Outen's place in the regular backfield, while Outen took his course with the sub squad.

The squad is reported in good physical shape.

CHAPEL HILL, October 30.—(P) Two regulars of the University of North Carolina squad will watch the game with North Carolina State at Raleigh next Saturday from the sidelines. The result of injuries received in the hard scrap with Georgia Tech last week.

Nelson Marshall, vet tackle, who lost four front teeth, was allowed to leave the hospital yesterday while Fenton Atkins, 240-pound tackle, will also be unavailable for the fray on account of injuries. Four other players suffered lesser injuries but will likely be well enough to enter the game, coaches reported.

The workout today was light, with those who participated in the Tech game only running signals and going to the showers early.

LEXINGTON, VA., October 30.—(P) With several regulars out recovering from injuries, Washington and Lee Generals are down to intensive practice in preparation for the football tilt with Virginia next Saturday.

Henry Groop, regular guard, and Barnett, fullback, are absent from the field due to injuries. Williams, end, has been out of practice for three weeks. He was out yesterday afternoon but was unable to run plays. Lott, halfback, forced to lay off last week, gave his mates an agreeable surprise by running signals yesterday afternoon but is still partly incapacitated from his early season injury. Captain Fitzpatrick, who not only recovered from a sprained wrist which kept him out of the West Virginia game and allowed him to play only part of the Tennessee battle, is out regularly at his tackle post this week.

BLACKSBURG, VA., October 30.—(P) The Tech invasion of the King college last Saturday now footloose, despite serious injuries. Five men are not in shape, although only two, Henry Groop, guard, and Barnett, fullback, are unable to get out on the field.

The North Carolina State team will include George Silver and Hank McLawhorn, heretofore substitutes, who were getting a shakeup. Donald Rutherford and Tadpole Smith, heretofore reserves, made their Captain Vann is in doubtful shape.

Florida dropped night practice because the weather was cooler, permitting daylight training for the game against Sewanee at Jacksonville.

There was a mile and a half十六 in -56 1-5, one and two-fifths of a second slower than the track record, Golden Prince, owned by T. M. Botts, turned in an easy victory in the Cote Brilliant handicap at Latonia. Golden Prince, ridden by the veteran, J. Heupel, finished three lengths ahead of Broadside. Lancer took third. The winner paid $4.18 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

Guided by the young star, E. Shropshire, F. M. Graham's Windy City captured the Bubbling Over handicap at Hawthorne. Captain J. S. took second, with Lillian T. third. Captain J. S. stayed close for two furlongs but could not last. Windy City's time for the Hawthorne course, six furlongs, 160 feet, was 1:15 1-5.

Coles Hudgings, veteran halfback, after a short gain and it was Strong who made the touchdowns, sweeping around the Colgate right end.

Strong is 22, weighs just less than 190 pounds, is an inch more than six feet tall and is studying business in N. Y. U. downtown school.

Columbus, Ohio, October 30.—(P) Ohio State has erected larger floodlights for its practice field and plans to work by night in preparation for the invasion of Princeton's Tiger Saturday. The Buckeyes came out of general practice for the Orangeburg game today. Maintaining his custom of keeping the gates closed during practice, Conch Bill Laval said last night that his team was taking general workouts.

COLUMBIA, S. C., October 30.—(P) Hopeful that Thursday's game against the Citadel would find all the residents of Columbia in the same mood, Gameducks continued their general practice for the Orangeburg game today. Maintaining his custom of keeping the gates closed during practice, Conch Bill Laval said last night that his team was taking general workouts.

DURHAM, N. C., October 30.—(Special) After playing with the big boys away from their own neighborhood, Duke's gridiron machine is back on their own block to frolic with their own gang, members of the North Carolina so-called Big Five.

Duke found the boys at Boston Navy and Georgetown rough-and-ready fellows, but nevertheless put up comparatively good scrapping. George Boeckel, Duke's star halfback, and Navy's after winning over Penn on Saturday by an identical score of that over Duke, 6 to 0, still can boast that all opponents this year have tallied but 15 points over her goal line.

Before Duke begins Big Five competition there remains one intersectional game, that between Penn State and Duke on November 10. The game resulted in a tie.

PENN STATE, PA., October 30.—(Special) Penn State will return to Franklin field, one of its favorite battle grounds, next Saturday to meet the Irish of Notre Dame.

The game will be the fourth meeting between Notre Dame and Penn State in football. In 1914 the Irish defeated Penn State, 14 to 7. The teams were not scheduled again until 1923 when the first of a three-game agreement was played at State College.

The game between Penn State and Notre Dame was to be the second of a three-game series.

Coach Alexander kept his boys indoors for the important portions of their workout at Grant field Tuesday afternoon, when the entire squad went through a drill in dummy scrummage against the Oglethorpe players in the gymnasium.

Scrimmages will be few and short at the North Avenue school during the remainder of the season, in which time prep for the Petrel fray.

Jackets and Figures.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED in figures—no Horace, not the bathing kind—you might look back over the past record of Tech's Terrible Two-Touchdown Tornado.

Figures of the type referred to here don't lie, nor do they necessarily mean anything, but they are interesting. If you look back over the record of the past year and the current season thus far you will find that Tech has won just nine out of 13 games by a margin of two touchdowns, with either no points or one point attached to the touchdowns. In one other game last year they scored their two touchdowns but won by seven points.

At no time in these two seasons has Tech added a point for each touchdown in the game except in the V. M. I. and Notre Dame games of last year when they scored but seven points in each game. In six out of 13 games they have won by exactly 13 points and in five of these their point total has been 13. To date they have played 13 games and 11 of these have been victories, and one a tie.

Just in case of question, let us submit the figures for the 13 games referred to. The first nine are last year's scores and the last four this season's games. Last season's games are arranged in order of the 1928 schedule.

Tech, 7; V. M. I., 0.

Tech, 13; Tulane, 6.

Tech, 7; Notre Dame, 26.

Tech, 13; North Carolina, 0.

Tech, 19; Oglethorpe, 7.

Tech, 0; Vanderbilt, 0.

Tech, 13; Alabama, 0.

Tech, 19; Auburn, 0.

Tech, 12; Georgia, 0.

Tech, 13; V. M. I., 0.

Tech, 12; Tulane, 0.

Tech, 13; Notre Dame, 0.

Tech, 20; North Carolina, 7.

This list sets forth some more interesting information as one glances over it. For example, Georgia Tech won the conference title last year and never scored more than 19 points on any conference foe. On the other hand, conference teams have scored but 14 points on the Tornado in the ten last conference games. Tech has won one conference championship and is still undefeated in another race, yet they have never had what might be termed easy sailing against conference foes in the two years unless the Auburn game of last season could be called easy sailing.

Last week in Chapel Hill the second team went in to gain a 20-point lead and it seemed for once that Tech would baffle home in a conference start without having to worry about the game. It is hardly correct to say that the Tarheel victory was ever probable, but all due to that hectic second half Tech's 20 points looked woefully small to a lot of Tech followers.

A funny team these Jackets have of Georgia Tech. They seem to have what it takes to win, and that's all. Perhaps that's enough

Stribling Knocks Out Big Sid Terris in Third Round

Macon Boxer Shows Punch In Quick Win

Loser Put Down for Nine Count Before End Comes; Good Crowd Present.

By DICK HAWKINS.

Tuesday night at Atlanta's dilapidated city auditorium William Lawrence Stribling wrapped a little piece of dynamite, sprinkled it freely with nitro-glycerine, tucked it under the chin of a large gentleman called Terris and touched it off.

The explosion came in the third round after Mr. Terris had struggled manfully, but ineffectually, against the unaided forces of Mr. Stribling for two minutes and 36 seconds. Forty-five hundred persons witnessed the knockout.

The main attraction, which featured the return of William Lawrence to Atlanta after a fight absence of two years, could hardly be called a great battle. Large Sid Terris, from Chapel Hill, up in Tarheel land, is large and he is strong, but his ability to fight must depend very largely upon the knockout punch he is prone to own.

Walter Stribling,

He did manage to hold and wrestle William Lawrence from rope to rope for a couple of rounds but the new Stribling was not to be denied. William Lawrence has come into a new legacy. He has picked up a punch and he throws fast and often. That might make much to the disappointment of large Sid Terris, the Terrible Tarheel.

At the first bell Referee Jake Abel didn't have to motion the fighters from their corners. He had to dodge them as he would any other gentleman. After a few rounds Stribling amused himself and the crowd for the rest of the round by standing still and letting the big boy hit right where he had just been. Large Sid was not in a whoopee, but nobody seems to know why.

He cocked his right hand at an angle of about 45 degrees to the ropes and never fired it but about twice. On those rare occasions Stribling had just left the spot where the ended right was going. William Lawrence might have been beaten during the evening with something besides the large boy's elbows, but nobody saw it.

Early in the second round Large Sid started south in the ring and Stribling left hand moved north. Large Sid stopped and the pretty pink protest he wears over his teeth jumped out of

Bulldog and Tiger To Battle Saturday

Georgia Is Working Hard Despite Records Showing Auburn Is Weak.

By BEN COTHRAN.

The Bulldog rattles his chain in his Athens kennel and the Tiger paces back and forth in his cage down in the loveliest village, preparing for their meeting on Saturday next.

It isn't the first time they've been in this state of preparation, not by a jugsfull of the strongest north Georgia whoopee water.

FLORIDA GAME WITH CLEMSON IS TRANSFERRED

Tampa, Fla., October 30.—(AP)—Acting on recommendations of Tampa alumni, the University of Florida football team today through James R. Boyd, graduate manager of athletics, that the Florida-Clemson football game scheduled for November 17 be transferred to Tampa, probably to Jacksonville.

Traditions, quite naturally, have piled up in all these years and it's tradition or something like it that makes either of the team that is inferior get all steamed up and fight the good fight against the good one.

Back in Stride.

So just because Auburn has won one game out of the last 18 tries is no reason to believe that Saturday afternoon will see the Bulldog run his legs off scoring touchdowns. It is conceded, of course, that Georgia will win, for Georgia is back in its stride. The Tulane game proved that. That week preceding last Saturday's thrilling afternoon at Athens was one of the greatest the school has ever known.

Plant field, local fairgrounds, where the game was expected to be played, at present is in such condition as a result of remodeling of the stands and a heavy rain that it is deemed it impossible to rely on the field being in shape by November 17.

Boyd, with Nash Higgins, assistant Gator coach, spent this morning with alumni in St. Petersburg, in an effort to have the game played there on that date. However, no field was available with accommodations for more than 3,000 spectators.

Barred Team Will Challenge

Leesburg, Fla., October 29.—(AP)—The Leesburg "Yellow Jackets" will challenge the winner of the state high school big ten conference football team in a non-conference mid-season game, to decide the state champion, was announced here tonight by Coach "Ban" Banning.

Coach Banning said that for some time his "Yellow Jackets" will have been unable to get games with large city schools, so he had to keep the team in the big ten conference as a rule which made necessary that the school must have 600 students. Small schools, he said, have refused to meet the Leesburg outfit.

This Saturday will be a full one for both teams. Auburn managed to win a game last Saturday by the rather impressive score of 25 to 0. Howard was the opponent, but Auburn has lost to weaker teams than that.

Pointing for Georgia.

And Auburn is naturally pointing for Georgia. It's the kind of game that old grads become rather whoopee over and make those foolish bets. It very likely will be a close one.

A noticeable improvement of Georgia against Tech was in the general play and especially in the tactics employed by the husky sophomore Mafet. They weren't getting the rangy brunet out of the pay at all. And Red Smith wasn't playing a bad game.

The big weakness was in the center of the line with Joe Boland out.

Tulane smashed through this particular spot more than one time and usually for considerable yardage. On that 95-yard march for the Greenies first touchdown 40 of them were gained by going through center. Mehre is working this week to remedy that defect, if possible.

That was what Auburn was over shadowed by the abandon with which the Georgia backs ran behind the splendid interference provided by H. E. Johnson. They gained a great amount of yardage around the ends but Mehre is probably seeing to it that this doesn't develop into a complex for there are lots and lots of yards to be gained off tackle and through the line, although it isn't in the Greenies' way. And then McCraig and Rothstein are better than average line-drivers.

Line Attacks Feared.

That's what Auburn is fearing more than anything else—Georgia's line attack. The Tigers have avowed that they're going to Columbus Saturday to upset the dope in the southern conference and maybe they will. Things like that happen in football, making it the stirring, rousing sport that it is.

Bohler is busily engaged at Auburn devising some manner by which his bluesmen may have a defense against Georgia's fast backs. It will take a right good trap. He will, however, come slashing through or to bowl over the hard-running Dudley. Bohler, for that reason, will take much reserve line material to Columbus in an attempt to stop the Bulldog when he sets out.

The Tigers isn't counting, however, on playing an entirely defensive game. The Plainsmen are counting on Callahan, Tuxworth and Sellers to do a bit of advancing with the ball. The three were responsible in the main for Howard's defeat and Auburn expects much of them next Saturday.

We can't see anything but a victory for the Bulldog. He will be forced to do much clawing and biting before it's gained, however. And that promises nothing but an interesting afternoon at Columbus next Saturday.

Schalk Reported Ready for Tigers

Detroit, October 30.—(AP)—The Detroit News today says that Ray Schalk, veteran catcher and former manager of the Chicago White Sox, has informed Stanley Harris, new manager of the Detroit Tigers, he is ready to sign a contract to play with Detroit next season.

The newspaper says it learned that Schalk after considering an offer from John J. McGraw of a three-year contract with the New York Giants at $10,000 a year, decided he would prefer to remain in the American league and, for a few days, thought if he wanted him he was ready to sign.

A decision is to be reached soon, according to the newspaper article. If Schalk joins the Tigers, the newspaper says, he probably will coach pitchers and catchers.

Pinehurst Net Tourney Starts

Pinehurst, N. C., October 30.—(AP)—The stars from the United States and North Carolina providing the bulk of the entries, are competing in the fifth midsouth tournament on the Pinehurst courts. Two rounds were completed today.

With P. Burwell of Charlotte, N. C., last year's winner, not defending his title, Robert Crossland, 1927 champion of Charlotte, is favored to succeed his fellow townsmen. Crossland is seeded No. 1, and, after entering the second round by the bye route, trimmed Nelson Hyde, of Southern Pines, in his second-round match, 6-0, 6-3.

Massachusetts has four players entered. New York state two and Pennsylvania one.

Georgia Tech Basket Loop Starts Play

Battalions Open Annual Sport as C. A. C. Ordinance Teams Win.

Just to ruin an old and revered phrase, if basketball comes, can winter be far behind.

Granting this assumption, the cool breezes should be driving the light weight finery to nothing as the lid was pried off the gym sport at Georgia Tech Tuesday afternoon as the battalion teams started dribbling around in the first two games of the schedule for the military crews at Port Elgin.

In the first of the fracas, the Coast Artillery swamped the Signal Corps by a 35-to-6 count. Fitzpatrick and Raines, with flashy floor work and canny eyes when the loop was in view were easily the best for the winners.

The Signal Corps was the mainstay for the Signal Corps.

The ordinance squad was closely fought from the Navy, 23 to 13. This affair was much tighter than the score indicates, with the difference being mainly to some hard-luck shots by the Sailors. Lewis and Harris were individual stars, while the entire Ordinance squad took a hand in an airtight five-man defense which forced the Navy to take the bigger portion of their shots from the outside. Wise and Sullivan were the Navy's best men.

The Citadel took their measure in the opening game of the season in Charleston, Mercer defeated them in Macon, Chattanooga defeated them in the Lookout city. Furman was victorious in Columbia, and the team from Cincinnati. After these defeats by comparatively weak teams why is it that Oglethorpe made such a formidable showing against Tech? Did they point this game alone? Were they on top of their game while Tech was sad off? These are questions which have been asked very often. The answer to the situation is simply this: The Petrels play inspired football against their home town enemies. They realize that a victory over the Jackets will add much more prestige than a victory over any of their other opponents.

When the Petrels line up against the Jackets at Grant field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock they will have the advantage of a powerful rain which had last season a more experienced bunch of gridironers. They will be even more desirous of a triumph this year than ever before because of the fact that Tech has made such a wonderful record this year.

With the return of Cy Bell, the Petrels' offense has been materially strengthened. His speed and cunning will be the main hopes of a Petrel victory against Tech Saturday. "Watch Cy Bell," will be the cry of the home Bell Army will be the key to the offense.

The Petrels' offense is the chief threat of the Birds, while co-Captain Jimmie Sims will be the main cog in the defense. Hayward Clement will do the punting because of his excellent performances in this department earlier in the season.

Cochell Harrison Robertson has decided to give his charges very light workouts this week, taking no chance on any more injuries. Although several of the Birds are badly crippled at the present time, it is expected that his first string eleven will be ready for action against Tech Saturday.

The Petrels aren't counting, however, on playing an entirely defensive game. The Plainsmen are counting on Callahan, Tuxworth and Sellers to do a bit of advancing with the ball. The three were responsible in the main for Howard's defeat and Auburn expects much of them next Saturday.

nately out of the coming scrap, makes rough work out of the question.

Holland, Durant and Brooke are all suffering from leg and back strains which may prove costly, while Westbrook is still carrying a cast on his hand which is not due to come off until the early part of next week.

Tuckerman, Durants' replacement, remains in Westbrook's place at guard, with Izzy Schulman directing activities in Durants' absence. The lineup was clicking with a consistent regularity against the Petrel maneuvers, and if no more accidents occur during the remainder of the week the coaches will probably run the available men in an effort to have the whole outfit ready for Vanderbilt.

As a concluding measure to the dummy drill, the team went out into the rain for a punting practice, and wound up the session with a signal drill which sent three teams chasing a slippery oval up and down the lot.

Georgia Starts Working for Auburn Saturday
at Athens.

Athens, Ga., October 30.—(Special)—A continuous, cold rain prevented the Georgia Bulldogs from holding their usual Tuesday afternoon scrimmage and Coach Mcbreath took his squad to the Woodruff Hall gymnasium where a long lecture and signal drill took up more than one hour.

Wednesday afternoon will see the Bulldogs on the gridiron in a hard workout against the frosh and the Red Devils in case rain does not again interfere. The Red Devils, Georgia's picturesque scrubs, have a game scheduled for Saturday with North Georgia A. & M. college from Dahlonega and they are working hard for the first game in which they have participated this year.

Georgia renews her ancient feud with Auburn Saturday. A feud with as colorful as any in the south. The Georgians are known to have been known as equal foes but in recent years the Red and Black has stepped away with victory time after time, usually by large scores. For period of nearly 10 years the victorious team was never beaten from the center by more than a few and scores of 7 to 7 or 7 to 6 were not uncommon.

The Plainsmen who first game in 17 starts last Saturday, while Georgia's football stock went up by virtue of a Tulane victory.

The SPORTLIGHT

Grantland Rice

PRINCETON IN THE WEST.

A few years ago Princeton invaded Chicago and won the most sensational intercollegiate contest of the last ten years.

There was one layer of drama piled on top of another, wherein long forward passes, hard line smashing and running plays finally worked the crowd into something approaching a froth, with Chicago on the verge of scoring again and winning near the finish, where Princeton checked the Maroon attack on the two-inch line.

This week Princeton faces another hard intersectional test, much different from the parties of a year ago, Ohio State having fast 252-pounders in Barratt, a star tackle in Ruskowski, a first-class quarterback in Holzman and a fine end in Fesler. The Scarlet and Gray line is big improvement over last fall, and Ohio again has her share of fast backs. This Tiger attack for Dr. Wilcox has thrown up a barricade against most offenses thrown against his team so far. Princeton should have the better backs and the stronger offensive. But it will be hard game for Princeton to win with some 80,000 western supporters singing the "Lucky Battle Cry."

The Blue Indian Sign.

Yale has hung an Indian sign of shining blue on Dartmouth for a long time. The Green has come within a half jump of suppressing the blue hoodoo, but has never quite shaken it loose. This year Yale is coming along with Al Martirano and others.

It will be a busy afternoon for both teams, but Dartmouth believes the Blue tide of old is about to take on a green tinge. Concerning which no little depends.

Dartmouth's line is strong in Dartmouth's backfield. But it takes a strong line to keep Yale back.

The Story of Leon de Nys.

Dear Mr. Rice: In all this amateur-professional clatter, did I wonder, even hear of Leon de Nys? Well, that's not surprising.

A Part of Tackles.

Chick Meehan is about ready to challenge the tacklers on both sides of the line. In Lassman and Grant he is willing to let any of the others lug in all the testimony they can carry. Lassman, standing six feet three inches, weighs 210. Grant gets around at 205 on the board. Lassman is one of the fastest members of his squad and Grant is no part of a track.

Pennsylvania always has good tackles and the Army does well enough when Sprague and Perry are working.

Two of the star tacklers in the middle west are Nease and Nowack, but they play on different teams.

Ruskowski wears the Scarlet and Gray of Ohio State; Nowack the Orange and Blue of Illinois. The list of star tacklers this season is almost as usual, for there also are Clarke, of Harvard; Eddy, of Yale, and Cole of Dartmouth.

Team Is Advanced.

"Our team has advanced more than I had hoped. I consider our defense really remarkable. I believe that we have the best secondary defense I ever saw. Our line is very strong and we have a six-man line. This enables our center to play loose and we have in Captain Pressley the best center in the south."

Pressley has the best instinct for breaking up a play of any man with whom I have ever come in contact.

He has intercepted and knocked down as many passes as any back. So far this year we have made more ground on intercepted passes than our opponents have made on the passes they completed.

"I have a great blocker and defensive back in Padgett. You remember how we used to use Cargile at end? Padgett is just as good a blocker and tackler as Cargile and is much better in his ability offensively and defensively. He weighs about 175 pounds and is exceptionally fast. I think he deserves a lot of praise."

Right at the beginning of the third round Terris struck the arm-locking right to the jaw. Large Sid sat down on the line and meditated the matter long and seriously. He got one knee and simultaneously some more, got up again and took the final touch like a man. It came unexpectedly. A right to the body made the big fellow crumple into Strib's arms and as he came down a left hook found the drooping jaw.

Terris Getting Up.

That was all there was to that fight and Stribling is still going up while Terris is just getting up.

As stated above, the fight was not a typical French amateur competition but the fans mostly came to see a Stribling with a knockout punch. They saw one and most of them went away satisfied.

The semi-windup saw a couple of misses and then a series of weightless actions and it also saw a kind of the fourth round when Bill Jordan, the High Point wildcat, went to sleep under the right-handed treatment of Jeff Carroll of Albany and New Orleans. This Jeff Carroll, by the bye, is a fighter of parts. He challenged the winner on the main bout and if Stribling fights him there will be a great battle.

Jordan Favorite.

Bill Jordan, who took the knockout drop, is a prima facie favorite in the High Point and he had 18 straight knockouts to his credit before he fought Strib recently but he was no match for the Albany boy last night.

In the first round Carroll proved that he is a powerful hitter by jarring his opponent's head with such force to the head and body. Jordan struck his attack in the second round and kept an effective left in Carroll's face all that stanza.

Came the third and Jordan displayed all his artful reserves by taking a right to the jaw that had him dropping to the mat then coming back to finish the round even with his heavier opponent. But the fourth followed immediately as such things have a way of doing and there was no need for a fifth bell. After one minute and a half of baiting Mr. Carroll found his opening and filled it full of right hand. Just once was enough and Mr. Jordan awoke a few minutes later wondering a lot of things.

One blonde Davis—who is probably called blonde because he has very red hair—knocked out the perennial Pug Avers from Fort McPherson in the second round and scored an knockout. No, whatever he can be said of blonde Davis he can not be accused of being dumb. He recovered early in the fight that could knock out the soldier if the soldier could only be made to stand still long enough. After considerable figuring he found a way and proceeded to hold Pug's mien in his left hand and applied his right to the open touch with his right. It was most ingenious of the young man and brought a roar of approval from the crowd. They wanted action and they were getting it.

Miss Second Fight.

A lot of poor cash customers missed the second fight completely. They went to the wrong place, or a bottle of Coca-Cola or something and when they returned the fight was over. Spencer Carter from Atlanta was responsible for the short bout. Thinking nothing at all of the folks on the outside he trained his right on Grady Martin of Columbus, and the bell at the end of the first round found Grady in the switch. Just 30 seconds after the second round started Grady went to sleep again and this time there was no bell to tell him where that left hook came from. It was very sad and should be a lesson to the customers who leave the room to take drinks of beer.

The certain raiser saw J. D. Abernathy and Andy Alverson jump four rounds to a draw. Eddie Hanlon, who referred all the bouts but the main attraction, called it a draw and he should know. Certainly it was two very willing but also very inexperienced ladies in action.

The first bout started with a baton royal and like all such affairs it furnished a few moments of good comedy.

When William Lawrence Stribling was introduced by Pat Elrod as the next heavyweight champion of the world there were a few hisses but for the most part the crowd seemed to agree. At any rate, Pat told them with all the power of a naturally large chest which is even larger since the arrival of his new baby boy.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

Associated Press Editor.

Chicago, October 30.—All grain was lower in price today, headed by wheat. Big figures on wheat crop production in the equator in particular, together with a fall in export demand for wheat from North America, tended to increase pressure to sell and to weaken the market.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsteady, 1 to 2 3/8c off, oats 1 to 1 1/2c down, and purchases unchanged to a setback of 45c.

Bread and grains and feed grains all finished at nearly the day's bottom. Traders took special notice of unofficiate estimates that Argentina's wheat production, the two chief wheat-producing countries of the southern hemisphere, would have a probable yield of 288,-

000,000 bushels based on present conditions, or 244,000,000 bushels actually shipped to far this season.

In addition to the wheat crop outlook for the approaching harvest in the southern hemisphere, revised estimates that Argentina's wheat crop, an important one, pointed to a world crop of 288,000,000 bushels more than last year.

Thus, the yield of other cereals in Europe, aside from wheat, is smaller. Meanwhile, Kansas winter wheat seeding was represented as practically completed, with just what was needed.

No export sales of any consequence were transacted in Canada or the United States.

Apparent likelihood of a heavier movement of the new corn crop was a surprising factor in weakness of the corn market. Bookings of corn so-far have shown an increase, most of No. 4 yellow to be shipped at once.

Oats buying lacked volume.

Provisions had a downward slant responsive to lower quotations on hogs

as well as grain.

The Story of Our War With Spain
Schley Seeks Cervera (continued).

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

MAY 21, 1898. COMMODORE SCHLEY WAS BLOCKADING THE CUBAN PORT OF CIENFUEGOS, WHEN HE RECEIVED ORDERS FROM SIMPSON TO SAIL AT ONCE FOR SANTIAGO. SCHLEY WAS SO SURE CERVERA WAS BEFORE HIM THAT HE DISREGARDED THE ORDER, AND REMAINED LIKE A WATCHFUL BULLDOG OFF CIENFUEGOS.

MAY 24 HE GOT IN TOUCH WITH THE CUBANS ON SHORE, AND LEARNED FROM THEM THAT THE SPANISH SQUADRON WAS NOT IN THE HARBOR. HE HEADED FOR SANTIAGO WITH ALL SPEED, ARRIVING OFF THAT PORT ON THE 26TH.

THE ROCKY HILLS AT THE ENTRANCE SCREENED THE INNER BAY AND SCHLEY, SEEING NO SIGNS OF THE HOSTILE FLEET, DECIDED THAT CERVERA WAS NOT IN THE HARBOR. HE ENCOUNTERED ROUGH WEATHER, WHICH SET HIS SHIPS BOBBING ABOUT AND PREVENTED THEM COALING FROM THE COLLIER THAT ACCOMPANIED THE SQUADRON.

BADLY IN NEED OF COAL, SCHLEY STARTED FOR KEY WEST, BUT HE HAD NOT COME FAR WHEN HE WAS MET BY A DISPATCH BOAT WITH ORDERS FOR HIM TO BLOCKADE SANTIAGO. SCHLEY PROMPTLY TURNED BACK, AND CERVERA'S LAST CHANCE OF ESCAPE WAS LOST.

TELEVISION NOT HERE YET, SPEAKER WARNS

Development Slow and Present Results Far From Perfect.

BY MARTIN CODEL
Copyright, 1930, by the National American News Co.

Washington, Oct. 30.—From the radio industry comes another "doubting" statement about television. The trade and the public are once more warned against expecting television as a development of the next year or two. Next year, it will never have been seen some fundamental improvement in the receiving apparatus. This season it is the dynamic and magnetic power speaker, last year it was the alternating current filament. Next year before it was the single diode control.

Radio, Mr. Raycroft asserted, is entering a more stable period in its evolution. This stability may lower production costs which may result in saving to the consumer. The industry—and "Nemo" now joins it—will be led to expect television in the coming radio year because each year it has seen some fundamental improvement in the receiving apparatus. This season it is the dynamic and magnetic power speaker, last year it was the alternating current filament. Next year before it was the single diode control.

The development expected by the public for the coming radio year is television," declared Mr. Raycroft. His birthplace, Atlanta, Georgia, has been confirmed in the public's mind by loudly proclaimed television exhibits at the various radio shows. Instead of fulfilling their avowed purpose of debunking television, these exhibits, coupled with almost daily announcements of new and new developments of the recording discs and other improvements of doubtful character, have only confirmed public anticipation."

Mr. Raycroft pointed out that the 24-line picture which can be transmitted on a 10-kilowatt plant has only one fifth the detail of the poorest quality of newspaper reproduction. The 24-line television reproduction is one inch square and consists, he said, of 576 image points. A newspaper half-tone of corresponding size has 2,048 image points.

The minimum television reproduction which can give a recognizable representation of the scrummage of a football game or show the action on a baseball field consists of 1,000 lines," he said.

Auto Drivers Get Long Terms

Yep, "struh—we give you auto drivers the longest terms you ever heard of, on those good Columbus and Firestone tires and tubes. No feelin' round about it just drive in and get a whole new set of tires on your automobile for either—you ought to come down an' look us over—we truly got a stock of tires down here at Cottongim's place on Spring Street—an' that's not all—we got terms for every one of 'em.

Don't delay—don't take a chance on having a blowout—right now is the time to get the best tire set on tires at Cottongim's in the place with the tires an' the credit. Come on down an' let Old "Judge" Cottongim give you some long terms. I'll be lookin' for you.

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Today and tonight will be devoted to political broadcasting more than any day so far in the campaign. The N. B. C. networks will be veritable beehives of politics. From 10:30 o'clock this morning until 10 o'clock tonight, the orators will hold sway.

Of foremost importance will be Governor Al Smith's political address from Newark, N. J., at 8 o'clock tonight. This will come over WSB and the N. B. C. system.

Then on the republican side of the fence, United States Senator William E. Borah, will speak at 8 o'clock over WSB and the N. B. C. system at 7 o'clock tonight.

Other political broadcasts over WSB will be as follows:

10:30 a. m.—Democratic campaign feature, Mrs. Carol Miller.

11 a. m.—Republican campaign feature, John Adams.

9:30 p. m.—Democratic campaign feature, John W. Davis.

The singing violins of the Seiberling hour will be featured in the RCA demonstration hour, which will be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Seiberling programs are directed by Frank Black, who accompanies the violins and makes the special arrangements which they play. The instruments, which are sold at the Seiberling stores, consist of one of his new compositions. Other features broadcast regularly through the N. B. C. system, which will be represented in this program, will be the Happy Hour, the Happy Hour, the Happy Hour, and the Happy Troubadour. Selections from the R.C.A. dance, sabor and little symphony orchestras will complete the program.

"Old MacDonald Had a Farm," and that isn't all, as the Trail Blazer does not report in song today in WSB's "Good and Honest Hour." This variety program will be broadcast over WSB from the National Broadcasting company's Chicago studios at noon.

Sandwiched in with the musical novelties will be the information daily feature concerning the Home, tenderer, a man of the soil who has tramped the world. Mrs. Helen Stevens Johnson, a member of the Trail Blazer team, will be hostess at a Halloween party presented to the entire radio audience. Harmonica and saxophone specialties will be introduced, and the Trail Blazers will play light classic favorites.

The program details follow: Spirit of Progress March—Trill Blasers.

Salut d'Amour—The Homesteaders.

Harmonica Specialties—The Harmonicas.
